

Protection is everything

Sometimes just wearing polarised sunglasses isn't enough. Your experience and your eyes can be damaged by dust, wind and peripheral light. Luckily Wiley X has a patented system to protect you.

Your eyes are probably your most important tool when you head out for a day's fishing. Whether it's spotting fish or areas that might hold fish, protecting your eyes from UV rays or ensuring you can concentrate on a float for long periods, keeping your eyes healthy and free from fatigue is a key advantage when fishing.

Wiley X is well known for offering eyewear that can protect your eyes from fatigue and damage, thanks to the many key innovations it has brought to the market. One such is its patented Facial Cavity™ Seal – a removable gasket that blocks out wind, dust particles, pollen and, perhaps most importantly, peripheral light.

The patented Wiley X Facial Cavity™ Seal.

Fine dust and pollen, as well as wind, can cause long-term eye irritation, such as Dry Eye Syndrome. Peripheral light can also diminish optical clarity. Wiley X patented removable soft foam Facial Cavity™ Seal block out even the finest irritants and peripheral light, protecting the eyes and allowing polarised lenses to perform at peak levels.

The system is available on the Climate Control series of eyewear (including Tide, Arrow, Knife, Echo, Gravity, AirRage, Sleek and Boss models) that Wiley X produces and with all of those models the gasket can be removed.

Wiley X's American outdoor director Ray Hill told TW: "The Facial Cavity™ Seal is a great example of the technology that we implement into our eyewear that make them perfect for anglers.

"Wearing regular sunglasses in windy conditions will only protect your eyes up to a point. When spending a full day in intense sun along with these other elements your eyes will fatigue and can even water. Believe me, from experience, you will not only be protected against these type of elements, but by using our patented Facial Cavity™ Seal it will also enhance the polarisation by 15 per cent as it eliminates peripheral light. This added performance advantage gives you what you need to capture your next big catch. W"
